PRESS RELEASE

Berlin, 28.10.2008

Temporary Architecture for James Bond Premier Event

Mobile Event Architecture by the Berlin company ZENDOME supports the German Premier of the 22nd James Bond film on 3rd November 2008.

The Berlin company ZENDOME provides mobile architecture for the premier the James Bond film "A Quantum of Solace", on 3rd November 2008, the most important film adventure of the year. Sony Pictures presents the German premier at the Potsdamer Platz where Daniel Craig brings glamour to the capital as the most famous secret agent in film history.

In order to provide an aesthetically round evening for the film team and the German VIPs, Sony Pictures first invites the premier guests into the elegant semi sphere of the ZENDOME. In true Bond style they are welcomed exclusively in the geodesic dome before they meet the photographers and fans on the red carpet. This will make the event an extraordinary piece of art following the spectacular style of the British secret agent 007.

The production designer Ken Adams recently received the Lucky Strike Design Award for the sets of some of the Bond classics. Like no other film worlds they stand for elegance, design and innovation.

Guests for the premier party of Sony Pictures are going to be: the main character Daniel Craig, director Marc Forster, producer Barbara Broccoli, Bond Girl Olga Kurylenko as well as the actors Anatole Taubman and Jesper Christensen. Of course a lot of German VIPs will also be present when a glamorous night kicks off at the Berlin Sony Centre.

Theatre release in Germany for "A Quantum of Solace" is 6th November.
